

APPENDIX 1: Preventative Health Taskforce Terms of Reference

Tasks

The Preventative Health Taskforce will provide evidence-based advice to government and health providers – both public and private – on preventative health programs and strategies, and support the development of a National Preventative Health Strategy.

The Strategy will provide a blueprint for tackling the burden of chronic disease currently caused by obesity, tobacco and excessive consumption of alcohol. It will be directed at primary prevention, and will address all relevant arms of policy and all available points of leverage, in both the health and non-health sectors, in formulating its recommendations.

The Taskforce will also:

1. Support the further development of the evidence base on preventative health, to inform what works and what doesn't.
2. Provide advice for policy makers on what strategies work best at a population level, and on the best buys for government investment in primary prevention.
3. Provide advice on the most effective strategies for targeting prevention in high-risk sub-populations, including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and people living in rural and remote locations.
4. Provide guidance and support for clinicians, particularly in primary care settings, to play a more effective role in preventative healthcare.
5. Provide advice to government on options for better integration of preventative health practice into the Medicare Schedule and other existing government programs.
6. Support the development of inter-governmental and public-private partnerships on preventative health.

Membership

The Taskforce is appointed for a term of three years by the Commonwealth Minister for Health and Ageing.

The Taskforce is chaired by Professor Rob Moodie, Professor of Global Health at the Nossal Institute for Global Health at the University of Melbourne, former CEO of VicHealth, the Victorian Health Promotion Foundation, and internationally renowned leader in health promotion and preventative health.

Other members of the Taskforce include:

- Professor Mike Daube, (Deputy Chair) Professor of Health Policy at Curtin University of Technology, former Director-General of WA Department of Health, and expert in public health, tobacco prevention and alcohol policy.
- Ms Kate Carnell AO, CEO of the Australian Food and Grocery Council, former ACT Chief Minister, and former pharmacist.
- Dr Christine Connors, Director, Preventable Chronic Disease Program, Northern Territory Department of Health and Community Services.
- Dr Shaun Larkin, General Manager at not-for-profit health insurer HCF.
- Dr Lyn Roberts AM, CEO of the National Heart Foundation with wide-ranging experience in public health promotion, particularly in cardiovascular disease and cancer, and current Chair of the Australian Chronic Disease Prevention Alliance.
- Professor Leonie Segal, Foundation Chair in Health Economics at the University of South Australia.
- Dr Linda Selvey, Deputy Chief Health Officer and Senior Director, Population Health, Queensland Health.
- Professor Paul Zimmet AO, Professor and Director of the International Diabetes Institute, and expert in obesity and type 2 diabetes prevention.

The Taskforce will also co-opt external expertise as required, particularly including:

- Medical and clinical expertise from the Commonwealth's Chief Medical Officer.
- Nursing expertise from the Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officer.
- Input from the food, alcohol and medicines industries, from stakeholders in these industries.
- Consumer input from health consumer stakeholder groups.
- Expertise from outside the health portfolio, including in areas such as transport and town planning, from stakeholders in these sectors.

Accountability and deliverables

The Taskforce will report to the Commonwealth Minister for Health and Ageing. The Taskforce will use a multidisciplinary approach, operate in a collaborative, open and consultative manner, and work in partnership with existing agencies and bodies working in associated areas.

The Taskforce will provide:

- Advice on the framework for the Preventative Health Partnerships between the Commonwealth and the states and territories by July 2008
- A three-year work program by September 2008
- A National Preventative Health Strategy by June 2009
- Advice on such matters as may be referred to the Taskforce from time to time by the Commonwealth Minister of Health and Ageing

The Taskforce shall be supported in its operations by the Commonwealth Department of Health and Ageing.

APPENDIX 2: Preventative Health Taskforce member profiles

Professor Rob Moodie – Chair

Professor Moodie is Professor of Global Health at the Nossal Institute for Global Health at the University of Melbourne, and former CEO of the Victorian Health Promotion Foundation since 1998. Since 1979 he has worked for Save the Children Fund, Médecins Sans Frontières, Congress (the community-controlled Aboriginal Health Service in Alice Springs), the Burnet Institute, and for the World Health Organization and UNAIDS. Professor Moodie also chairs the Technical Panel to the Gates Foundation Avahan Program in India, and the Melbourne Storm Rugby League Club.

Professor Mike Daube – Deputy Chair

Professor Mike Daube is Professor of Health Policy at Curtin University of Technology, and Director of the Public Health Advocacy Institute of WA. He was Western Australia's Director General of Health from 2001 to 2005, and Chair of the National Public Health Partnership. He is currently President of the Public Health Association of Australia, the Australian Council on Smoking and Health and the WA Heart Foundation, and Chair of the WA Alcohol and Drug Authority. He has played a leading role in tobacco control, alcohol and other public health issues nationally and internationally for many years, and has advised governments and NGOs in some 30 countries. He has received awards for his work from organisations including the World Health Organization, the Public Health Association, the Australian Medical Association, Healthway, the Heart Foundation, Curtin University, the Australian Council on Smoking and Health, and the Australian Red Cross.

Ms Kate Carnell AO

Kate Carnell is currently Chief Executive Officer of the Australian Food and Grocery Council. She was ACT chief minister from 1995 to 2000, and received the Liberal Party's Distinguished Service Award in 2002. Ms Carnell has been the chief executive of development at TransACT Communications in 2001, Director of NRMA Ltd from 2001 to 2002, and Executive Director of the National Association of Forest Industries. She is an Honorary Ambassador for Canberra and became the Director of the Multicultural Business Chamber of Australia Ltd in 2001. She has received the Paul Harris Award from Rotary.

Dr Shaun Larkin

Shaun Larkin joined the Hospitals Contribution Fund of Australia (HCF) in 1997 as General Manager, Strategic Development. He was appointed General Manager, Benefits Management in 2002 and in November 2007 began leading HCF's development of a new corporate ventures function. This function is dedicated to seeking out and forming strategic and financial partnerships with innovative companies that share HCF's commitment to improving healthcare quality, service and affordability.

Prior to joining HCF, Shaun was based in Singapore for four years where he led the establishment of a chain of ambulatory medical centres throughout Asia. Before this he worked for nine years as an executive for a large private hospital operator (Ramsay Health Care) in Australia and the United States.

Dr Lyn Roberts AM

Dr Lyn Roberts has been CEO of the National Heart Foundation of Australia since 2001. Dr Roberts has developed national cardiovascular health programs within Australia, has been extensively involved with cancer prevention programs and is regarded as an expert on tobacco control matters. She is past Chair of the Australian Chronic Disease Prevention Alliance (ACDPA; members: Cancer Council Australia, Diabetes Australia, Kidney Health Australia, National Stroke Foundation and National Heart Foundation of Australia) and is a member of a number of expert advisory committees for the government and non-government sectors. In 1997 Dr Roberts was awarded an Order of Australia (AM) for service to the community and to health, particularly in the fields of health promotion, cancer prevention awareness and lifestyle education. Dr Roberts was elected to the Board of the World Heart Federation (WHF) in 2006 and is Vice President.

Professor Leonie Segal

Professor Segal is Foundation Chair in Health Economics at the University of South Australia. Her research interests are broadly concerned, optimising the mix of health services and identifying the associated drivers and incentives that can facilitate evidenced-based resource shifts. Professor Segal's former research interest has resulted in a large research program to develop and apply a population-based approach to priority setting, together with large-scale cost-effectiveness analysis.

Professor Paul Zimmet AO

Professor Zimmet pioneered Australia's first institute dedicated exclusively to diabetes research, education and clinical care, becoming the Foundation

Director when the International Diabetes Institute (IDI) was opened in July 1985. He was Professor of Diabetes at Monash University from 1989-1997. In 1993 he was awarded the Order of Australia (AM) for distinguished services to medicine and education, particularly in the field of diabetes. In 2001 he was honoured as an Officer of the Order of Australia (AO) for medical research of national and international significance, particularly in diabetes, and for contributions to Australia's biotechnology development. In July 2008 the IDI merged with the Baker Heart Research Institute to establish the Baker IDI Heart and Diabetes Institute. Professor Zimmet is Director Emeritus and Director of International Research in the new institute.

AHMC NOMINATED JURISDICTIONAL MEMBERS:

Dr Christine Connors

Dr Christine Connors is a General Practitioner and Public Health Physician who has been working in the Northern Territory for over 20 years, providing clinical and public health services to remote Indigenous communities. Dr Connors was involved in developing the NT Preventable Chronic Disease Strategy and has been leading its implementation in the Northern Territory. She is the Director of the Preventable Chronic Disease Program for the Department of Health & Community Services. She is involved in a number of research projects with the Menzies School of Health Research and the Cooperative Research Centre for Aboriginal Health.

Dr Linda Selvey

Dr Linda Selvey is currently Senior Director, Population Health and Offender Health Services with Queensland Health. Previously she was Director, Communicable Diseases Unit with Queensland Health. She is a Public Health Physician and also has a PhD in Immunology. She is currently Deputy Chair of the Australian Population Health Development Principal Committee, and Chair of the Blood Borne Virus and STI Subcommittee of this Committee. She has previously been a member of the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Council, and a member of Australian Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation. Her special interests are primary prevention of chronic diseases, and HIV/AIDS and hepatitis C prevention and management. She has been an active environmentalist since the early 1980s and is particularly passionate about climate change. She was recently trained as a climate change presenter by former US Vice President Al Gore, who is training climate change presenters around the world as part of the Climate Project.
