

TASKFORCESUBMISSION: submission

NAME: Hans Emmenegger

POSITION: retired

ORGANISATION: private

SUBMISSION1: Having listen to the Health Report on todays Radio National show I would like to propose that our Health System can be improved by making the User pay for its services.

Obese people, alcoholics and smokers etc should be required to pay higher premiums for health services or insurances.

Once the hip pocket is affected the focus will shift towards improving the health of these individuals.

The general public (or the government) should not have to foot the bills for people who ignore the warning signals (on TV and other medias). After all, a speeding driver will need to pay the traffic fine himself too.

PRIVACY: yes

SUBMIT: Submit